Live Music Now is a national charity delivering interactive concerts, workshops and projects in a range of community settings including special schools and units.

We know that many children and young people in special schools miss out on their entitlement to music. Our programmes support school music provision while providing stimulating musical experiences for pupils, supporting their musical and social development and general wellbeing.

Why us?

- 97% of teachers scored us 4 or 5 out of 5 for pupil engagement
- Musical experiences shaped around your school and pupils
- Our professional musicians are trained to work developmentally and inclusively with pupils
- Following the social model of disability and underpinned by the Sounds of Intent framework

Interactive Concert - Live or Online

- Fun participatory activities to promote engagement
- Tailored to the abilities and interests of each group
- Pupils get up close to musicians and instruments
- A boost to wellbeing and the beginning of voice in music

Music Workshops - live or online

- All the benefits of an Interactive Concert plus...
- Personalised small group sessions lasting 30-45 minutes
- Can be shaped around curriculum themes
- One-off tasters or longer series, lasting up to a full academic year

Count Me In!

- A ten-week inclusive ensemble project
- Tailored parts for all participants, based on their abilities and interests
- Informed by Sounds of Intent framework
- Option for participants to work towards Trinity College Awards in Musical Development
